Head of Chambers Kate Blackwell KC has a formidable reputation as a first-class silk due to her skill, judgement and a history of outstanding performances in serious and complex cases of national public interest. Kate is one of the UK's leading silks specialising in public inquiries, serious crime, regulatory law and inquests.

Kate deals with high-profile cases and represents high net-worth individuals when facing cases involving significant reputational risk, financial consequence and threat to liberty. She is the counsel of choice for many solicitors who want a bespoke and exceptional service for their private clients.

Kate is regularly instructed on behalf of public bodies, private companies and as Counsel to the Inquiry in statutory and non-statutory inquiries. She has over 15-years experience as a Judge in the Crown Court presiding over serious criminal trials and presents seminars and training on all aspects of public inquiries and the criminal law, including corporate manslaughter.

Kate is expert in handling complex questions of evidence and brings strategic, cross-disciplinary experience to all of her practice. She has recently been instructed to chair a review of government legislation and has provided executive training and strategic consultancy to a number of prosecution and regulatory agencies including on evidence gathering and disclosure.

From early in her career, Kate has been recommended, year after year, by the leading legal publications as a "Tier 1" advocate. She is considered one of the premier award-winning KCs in the country and has a long-standing commitment to equality and diversity.

Kate is a Master of the Bench at Lincoln's Inn.

PUBLIC INQUIRIES

Kate is recognised as a leader in the field having been described in the 2025 and 2026 legal publications as "absolutely first class", "a force to be reckoned with" and "exceptionally thorough, practical, approachable - a true leader." She is frequently appointed as Counsel to the Inquiry by Secretaries of State to lead legal teams, develop terms of reference, strategically advise, examine key witnesses and deliver recommendations. Kate's work involves the most sensitive and legally complex issues, including failings in government policy, exposing corrupt practice, uncovering multi-layer cover-up attempts, systematic failings in multi-disciplinary healthcare, substandard maternity care and hospital governance processes, serious safeguarding failings, avoidable neonatal deaths and bereavement.

Significant public inquiries include:

United Kingdom Covid Inquiry

Kate has been appointed by the Rt Hon Baroness Heather Hallett DBE as Counsel to the Inquiry for the United Kingdom Covid Inquiry in its first and final modules. She led Module 1 into the state of preparedness of the United Kingdom for a pandemic together with Hugo Keith KC during which she examined former prime minister David Cameron and former Chancellor George Osborne. Kate now leads Module 10 examining the impact of Covid on the population of the United Kingdom with a particular focus on mental health and well-being, key workers, the most vulnerable in society and the bereaved. Public hearings will take place in February and March 2026.

The Thirlwall Inquiry

Kate represents the former Chief Executives of the Countess of Chester hospital in the Thirlwall Inquiry examining the events at the Countess of Chester Hospital and their implications following the trial, and subsequent convictions, of the former neonatal nurse Lucy Letby of murder and attempted murder of babies at the hospital. This has included cross-examining the paediatric consultants and other hospital managers, responding to media requests, applying for the Inquiry to suspend its work and leading the team in drafting responses to Inquiry Rule 13 warning letters.

Baroness Casey Review

Kate provided expert legal advice to the review team conducting the Baroness Casey Review into the standards of behaviour and internal culture of the Metropolitan Police Service. The review discussed whether the Met's leadership, recruitment, vetting, training, culture and communications supported the standards that the public should expect. It found that the organisation was institutionally racist, misogynistic and homophobic.

Gosport Independent Panel Inquiry

Kate was appointed by the Secretary of State for Health as Lead Counsel and panel member to the Gosport Independent Panel, constituted to examine and report on historical events related to the care, treatment and deaths the patients of the Gosport War Memorial Hospital in Portsmouth. The panel's work was ongoing for four years and received wide media national and international attention. The panel revealed the "Patronising Disposition of Unaccountable Power" as it estimated that at least 450 lives had been shortened at the hospital by an unjustified opioid regime. As legal lead, panel member and law team manager Kate wrote and conducted the extensive legal validation on behalf of the Inquiry.

Daniel Morgan Independent Panel Inquiry

Kate was appointed by the Home Secretary as Lead Counsel to the Daniel Morgan Independent Panel, established to shine a light on the circumstances of Daniel Morgan's murder, its background and the handling of the case by the Metropolitan Police Service. In so doing the Panel addressed the role played by police corruption in protecting those responsible for the murder from being brought to justice and the failure to confront that corruption; and the incidence of connections between private investigators, police officers and journalists at the News of the World and other parts of the media. Kate negotiated with numerous organisations in ensuring maximum possible disclosure of material to the Panel, in accordance with its Terms of Reference. She met with senior officers of the MPS and the NCA to consider confidential and secret information and drafted agreements to ensure the protection of documentation.

INQUESTS & REGULATORY LAW

Kate has been instructed in many substantial inquests in a number of roles by professional bodies, individuals and government departments. Kate has a wealth of experience in defending individuals and companies charged with breaching regulations and has prosecuted many cases for the Health and Safety Executive, the Environment Agency and the Office of Rail Regulation. Her expertise straddles the interface between inquest, regulatory and criminal proceedings.

Significant cases include:

Inquest touching the death of PM – 8 week hearing representing the National Offender Management Service in a case where a security operative employed by G4S in Iraq shot dead 2 colleagues.

Inquest touching the death of CF – death in immigration detention including other statutory agencies and complex safeguarding issues.

Inquest touching the death of KL – suicide of inmate. Considered historical and systemic failures in custodial care.

Inquest touching the death of BB – representing the family of inmate who received negligent medical care which led to his death. Involved safeguarding oversight and inter-agency working.

Office of Rail Regulation – Prosecuting railway company convicted of breaching Health and Safety Offences where a disused depot had been left with live overhead cables causing the electrocution of a group of 13 year old boys, one of whom died.

Environment Agency v BP – Defending company manager charged with breaching environmental regulations in his waste management company.

R v D & others – Defending a director of Railtrack charged with gross negligence manslaughter and significant breaches of health and safety regulations.

R v T – Prosecution of a company whose breaches of Health and Safety led to the death of employee at place of employment. Cross examined CEO over four days.

R v I – Prosecution of a company charged with breaching “waste” regulations. European legislation considered.

R v D – Defence of company director in prosecution brought by trading standards involving millions of pounds worth of goods and strong international element.

R v W & others – Defence of company prosecuted for a fatal accident on a demolition site.

SEXUAL OFFENCES

Significant cases include:

R v ME – successful defence of footballer charged with rape.

R v TL – successful defence of actor charged with rape.

R v JB – successful defence of student charged with rape. Case stopped following a successful abuse of process argument.

R v JD – successful defence of international businessman charged with rape.

R v MA – successful defence of dentist charged with historical rape.

R v MM – successful defence of businessman charged with coercive and controlling behaviour.

R v H – successful defence of a man charged with running a paedophile-ring including the abduction and abuse of a 14-year old boy.

R v J – successful defence of a psychiatric patient charged with sexual assault upon two nurses.

R v B and others – successful defence of father of a 4 year old for rape and sexual offences.

R v J – successful prosecution of Premier League and England International footballer for child sex offences. Advised from the point of charge and presented the case through to trial, sentence and Court of Appeal. Convicted and sentenced to 6 years imprisonment. Successfully defended conviction and sentence appeals.

R v B - Case involving taking and producing thousands of images of young female and serious sexual assault. Legal applications included the anomaly produced by the age differential in the Protection of Children Act 1978 and the Sexual Offences Act 2003.

BUSINESS CRIME

Throughout her career, Kate has been instructed in substantial cases of mortgage fraud, VAT fraud and corruption. She regularly represents high net-worth individuals and companies facing financial investigation. Her keen knowledge, thorough preparation and tenacity are key skills for which she is highly sought after. She advises professionals prior to and during the course of criminal proceedings.

Significant cases include:

R v A – Defending an international business man charged with conspiring with others to launder money. HMRC offered no evidence after extensive written and oral argument, all restraints lifted.

R v LS & others – Defending a woman in a multi-million pound fraud and money laundering operation. Following lengthy disclosure arguments the case collapsed leading to not guilty verdicts for all the defendants.

R v W & others – Defending a man in a substantial waste disposal/weightbridge fraud. Not guilty verdict entered against him in circumstances where the majority of other defendants were convicted.

R v C & others – Defending a woman in an MTIC fraud of EU exporters. At the time this was the largest and most complex fraud of its type, involving at least £400 million worth of mobile telephones being traded and a loss to the Revenue of at least £85 million.

R v F & others – Defending a Maltese national in a £13 million diversion fraud involving a strong international element and a culture of non-disclosure and misinformation. Successful defence in circumstances where client had developed severe mental health difficulties during course of the trial.

R v W & others – Fraudulent trading and blackmail. Successfully defended a woman who was the only one of 4 indicted defendants to be acquitted.

R v R & others – Representing the main defendant in an alleged MTIC carousel fraud depriving HMRC of over £100million.

Operation Oceanus – Successfully prosecuting three defendants charged with fraudulent trading and "disqualified director" offences.
