

Heather primarily practices in two main areas, namely Personal Injury and Coronial Law. As well as these primary areas, Heather also accepts instructions in respect of all other aspects of Civil Law; Professional Discipline & Regulatory Law; and Immigration, Nationality & Asylum Law.

Heather prides herself on offering all of her clients a personal, yet professional service and offers a swift turnaround in respect of all paperwork. Solicitors often comment on her outstanding customer service.

Written work is dealt with quickly, communication on cases is excellent and Heather is extremely accessible and happy to assist when her clients require her for ad hoc advice or assistance.

Heather has been appointed as Junior Counsel to the Crown (Regional B Panel) since 2015. Heather's appointment was recently extended by the Attorney General, Rt. Hon. Suella Braverman QC MP, who described the competition for places on the panel as "fierce". Heather's appointment will continue until 2026, and requires her to undertake complex civil, and public law work on behalf of all government departments.

Personal Injury

Heather is an experienced personal injury practitioner whose work covers a wide range of areas, including public liability, occupiers' liability, employers' liability, industrial disease, clinical negligence and road traffic accidents, acting for both Claimants and Defendants. Heather has a thriving court practice, attending court daily to represent clients at trials, disposal hearings, interim applications, costs and case management conferences, case management conferences, directions hearings, costs proceedings and appeal proceedings.

Heather also has a very busy "paper" practice, and is frequently instructed on behalf of clients to prepare paperwork including the drafting of pleadings, applications, Part 35 questions, advices on liability, quantum and procedure, and appeals. Heather offers a swift turnaround in respect of the same.

Notable Cases

RR – Acted for the Claimant in a claim arising from a RTA whereby the Claimant was run down by a hit and run motorist. The claim was pursued via the MIB Untraced Drivers' Agreement and settled for a sum in excess of £100,000.

MH – Advised the Claimant on matters of procedure and quantum in a case involving provisional damages, whereby the future risk of the Claimant developing epilepsy was at 2%.

CB – Claim concerning trespass against the person whereby the Claimant was forcibly ejected from a club by door staff causing him to sustain personal injury.

NP – Case arising from an accident at work, whereby a paramedic sustained significant shoulder injuries in a live river whilst undergoing specialist training.

NJ – Employers' liability claim concerning unusual and complex injuries sustained as a consequence of an unsafe system of work and repetitive manual handling.
